Christina - Panagiota Manolea is Lecturer at the Hellenic Army Academy. She holds a degree in Classics (University of Athens, 1992). Since 2002, she holds a PhD in Classics entitled "The Homeric tradition in Syrianus" from the Department of Greek and Latin, University College London (UCL), University of London. She has also followed post-doctorate studies at the University of Athens (2003-2004)

She teaches Greek Civilisation and Enlightenment at the Hellenic Army Academy since 2020. She has also taught at the University of Patras (2009-2011), the University of the Peloponnese (2011-2012) and the Hellenic Open University (2004-2020). She has worked at the University of Athens as a researcher (1.5.1997 - 30.4.1998, 1.6 - 30.11.2001, 1.1 - 31.8.2003 και 1.9.2003 - 30.4.2004)

Dr. Manolea has published the book The Homeric tradition in Syrianus (Ant. Stamoulis Editions, 2004) and co-edited the book Studies in Hermias (Brill, 2020). She has also published 24 articles in international, peer-reviewed journals. In addition, she has supervised two undergraduate theses at the University of Patras.

She has obtained scholarships during her undergraduate and graduate studies both from the Hellenic State Scholarships Foundation and the A. G. Leventis Foundation.

Dr. Manolea has participated in 33 international conferences. She is a reviewer for many acclaimed publishing houses and journals, such as Bloomsbury, The International Journal of the Platonic Tradition and Littera Antiqua. She is a member of the American Philological Association (APA), the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies, the Classical Association (Great Britain) and the International Society for Neoplatonic Studies (ISNS). She is also Secretary General of the Panhellenic Union of Writers.

Her research interests are the reception of the ancient Greek literary tradition (especially Homeric) and ancient Greek rhetoric in writers of Late Antiquity, the Byzantium as well as the Greek Enlightenment and the modern era.
