

Dr. Anastasia PARI was born in Kavala, having Asia Minor origins and she grew up in Congo in Central Africa. She graduated from “University of Piraeus” holding a BA in “Business Organization and Management”. She has a postgraduate diploma in Business Economics from the University of Essex in the UK. She is also a holder of an MA in Economics from the University of Bath. In addition, she received her PhD in Economics from the University of Bath. She taught Microeconomics, Macroeconomics and International Economics in the same university for 3 years.

After completing her studies in the UK, she returned to Africa. She worked in Kinshasa, the capital of Congo, where she was running 2 food production factories for 5 years.

When she returned to Greece, she taught:

a) in the private sector:

University of Illinois in Athens and Larissa, University of La Verne in Athens and European University in Athens

b) in the public sector:

University of Piraeus, Commercial Bank, TEI of Piraeus, TEI of Chalkida (and to the department of Thebes- Logistics Department), Police Officers Academy and the Military Academy.

-From October 2005 to September 2010, she taught Informatics as a Professor in the Police Officers Academy.

-She is a Lecturer and has been teaching in the Hellenic Military Academy since February 2008. She teaches Political Economy with emphasis on Business Organization and Management, Leadership, Human Resources Management, Military Management and Leadership Management.

- Her work includes 11 books and more than 30 articles.

-Her research interests focus on the areas of Political Economy, Military and Political Leadership, Organization and Business Administration, Human Resources Management, Military Logistics, Military and Leadership Management.

-She speaks 4 languages: English, French, Lingala and Greek. She has got Computer, English and French teaching skills.

- She has participated and presented her articles at International Conferences in Germany, Italy, France, Turkey and the United States of America, furthermore, at “GlobState III International Research Conference” of NATO in Poland. She is a member of the Editorial Board of the International Journal “Global Business and Management Research: An international journal” since 2008.